Each month is divided into 4 equalish parts, containing two columns with space for 14 entries.

Each entry space consists of 1) a checkbox, 2) space for the day-of-month the bill is due on, and 3) space for a brief description. When you have paid a bill, check the box.

TIP: For January, create a new layer and name it 'bills' and write in all the dates and descriptions for your monthly recurring bills. Select and copy that content, go to the next month, create a new layer named 'bills' and paste and position your bills into the reminder grid lining up your dates and descriptions in the grid. Repeat for the rest of the year.

For non-standard bills, like car insurance or stuff that doesn't get paid every month, go to that month and update the 'bill' layer with the relevant due date and description. When you close the calendar and reopen, you'll automatically (please verify this) work on the first layer. That's where you place your check marks, which leaves your bill data untouched and useful to copy if needed.
